ROUND ABOUT THE STATE.

Pueblo County will have a people's ticket.

A miners' library has been opened at Nimita City.

The Hoosier tunnel near Summitville has resumed work with a small force of men.

At the first three Murray meetings held at Golden, 265 persons counted the vote.

The actors of Ouray are persecuting the good people of that town with raspberry festivals.

Several of the leading mines in the vicinity of Gold Hill are shut down. Among them the Corning Tunnel.

Large quantities of ore are being covered early at the several reduction works in this vicinity.—Lake City Crescent.

A three hundred and seventy pound Presbyterian bell has reached Lake City, donated by Theodore Little of Morris-town, Pa.

At the meeting of the Saguenay County in Austria Association last Saturday evening it was decided to have a fair this fall.

On account of the small-pox scare, Judge Leroy, a juror, the district court under the next regular term.—Triumph Enterprise.

The "Market and" J. A. Jones, registering from St. Louis, were in town the other day looking for a location to start a bank.—Prospector.

Joseph Venable has taken the contract from Barlow & Sanderson for delivering 250 tons of hay between the North and Lake City.—Prospector.

The Denver and Santa Park Railway Company expect to have their road completed to Bailey's, 55 miles from Denver, by the first of January.

The Gunnison Valley and Colorado toll road is now complete from the toll gate to the town of Gunnison, and the toll is charged at seventy-five cents.—Salt Lake World.

Henry Moch has returned from a trip to the San Miguel country, bringing with him some very beautiful and rich specimens of gold-bearing quartz from that section.—Prospector.

Owing to technicalities in regard to the distance of the land in office, Summitville did not get its postoffice as expected. Mail matter intended for that place should be directed to Siltwater.—News-Herald.

Much better feeling is expressed on the streets with reference to the recent action of the State Board of Equalization, and a first-class law suit looms up in the distance, unless some arrangement is made.—Chieftain.

Mr. Hunter, of Greeley, is shipping a large number of beef cattle to Chicago, via the C. & N. W. and N. & P. railroads. He makes a saving of about $20 per car by using the K. P. instead of the U. P. route.—Farm Journal.

Some specimens of wild oats etc. at this office, from the mess of the Rio San Miguel, measure six inches in length. There are thousands of acres of this grass, and live stock needs to be kept in good condition.—Silverton Miner.

A child of Thomas God at Missouri City died in being possessed with the tins of quackery. The child was also affected with a canker, and was set in a box to die, but the child was rescued by the doctor.—Pharmacist.

Seventy-two silver dollars were shipped from the Silver Lake, three miles from Silver Lake City last week, and Mr. Silver informs that he expects to ship one hundred sacks this week. The silver carries well and little silver is in good quantity.—Ouray Times.

But J. C. Humphreys has sold about 1,500 acres of J. C. R. lands in the last two months. Confidence in farming is returning, as experience has shown that a farmer can be a successful one and a wealthy one. The full title of property will be on us in a year or so more.—Butler News.

We know of nothing that would be more remunerative in the North than a flour mill. Were it known that such an institution would be running here by next fall, thousands of acres of wheat would be sown within a radius of twenty miles of the North the coming spring.—Prospector.

The Park County Republicans have nominated the following ticket: County Clerk, Samuel Rutherford; Sheriff, John C. Hogan; Treasurer, William Bailey; Surveyor, Peter C. Morse; Assessor, Eugene Rose; Judge, John Law; Commissioner, E. A. Crozier; Coroner, Thomas Wiley.

Recent assays of the grey copper ore from the Silver Lake mine gave in silver 12.50 cents to the ounce, or $12,500.00 per ton value. This is significant, from the fact that the Empire has the largest body of pure grey copper ore in its pay streak of any mine we know of, and proves the property more valuable than ever.—La Plata Miner.

THE ROCKY MOUNTAINS AND THE BABY RAILROAD.

To the Editor of the Gazette.

The Rocky Mountains, on the western border of Missouri Territory, have a story to tell. There are extensive tracts of moving sands. Near the mountains are no signs of vegetation.

Quote from Morse's Universal Geography, revised in Charles town in 1810. "At Jeremiah Morse, if you could see the Broken Earth, you could see the return to life, you would look in vain for the signs of vegetation which would be the signs of the one paragraph with which you dismiss this region. You would have to write at length and with a possible geographical evidence of green hills, the grazing lands, and the rich mineral deposits. No doubt such vague descriptions as one above quoted, have been made up and are in many portions of the globe.

It is rather a pity to name a section where it is still unknown. Rocky Mountains suggest barrenness and inaccessibility. Now if we were to name this beautiful part of the world, we would call it the Land of Sunshine. We would not disown our mountains or their wonderful rock formations of gorgeous coloring, but we would give them a name which would tell of their fertility and of the rich flora with which they abound. But we are no longer among the unknown. A railroad has taken us in hand; from a sides come seekers after health, pleasure, and profit; seekers who do not go away disappointed, but who remain acting as magnets to draw others here. Our baby railroad, as it has been called, is a busy youngster. It is the heart of the City of Mexico, a child of the true American type, growing rapidly in length, not breadth; a nerve; it is out of its short coat, begins to feel the necessity of ordering long trains for every day wear, has tried them on, finds them becoming, it moves it has no stiffness in the knees, no shortness of breath, but with the strength and vigor, the air right of a Colorado child, on the toes of high mountains it scours in such a sure, exultant tones that sure those people in the moon will be entering a complaint in regard to disturbed sleepers; and as for the poor old man who has been shut up there since time began, he will be coming down one of these bright nights to investigate matters. Our baby has a strong will, but has not taken the reins in its own hands. It is wise, it is governed, and completely under control. It is well-mannered; does not think its lists were given it to stride at lawful authority with, but works with good heart and open hands, and as for grumbling, it has no time to waste in that way. It is hurrying down to open up Old Mexico to the world; to bring into market its fruits, its valuable woods, and numerous rich products. It is the great orator of this mountain land, speaking through the sense of sight. All along its path are springing up thriving towns, and cattle and sheep ranches, whose proprietors can show satisfactory results. Our baby has a heavy load of coal and minerals to carry, showing that the interior of the mountains give also a rich yield; showing, too, that a railroad was needed to bring this treasure forth. Long life to this child—continued health and strength to it. May it speedily reach its full growth, when after years can only be to its vigor, and may we be at the rejoicing on the day when it comes of age in the beautiful old city of Mexico.

from the Rocky Mountain News we copy an article refuting certain unscrupulous charges against the owners of Manitou, which will be heartily appreciated and appreciated by hundreds of people in the State of Colorado, and elsewhere. Manitou is the brightest gem in all Colorado's natural attractions, and it is to the enterprising and liberality of the Colorado Springs Company that it owes its fast growing popularity as the most delightful summer and winter resort in the West.

A late article on "A Colorado Watering Place," printed in the San Francisco Call, while giving the general surroundings of Manitou with fairness, and doing full justice to the abundant attractions of the place, contains allusions to those who have given years to the effort to make it worthy of its name, that seem prompted by personal malice, and should be refuted. We quote:

"In the future, when the waters of Colorado are better known and visited, Manitou will become a popular resort, and will gather a large attendance; but not half its building sites can be occupied until an earthquake shakes up the wits of the present owners of the land—the Colorado Springs Company—or junes them out of sight, for building sites here in this wild mountain land are as valuable as good sites in the cities of Oaxaca and San Francisco."

Now, all who know anything about Manitou and its surroundings (and the writer of the above paragraph, unless we are great mistakes in the authorship, knows this as well as anyone now resident in Colorado) know that a very considerable part of the property is entirely unsuitable. In the first place, there were only 640 acres at all; at least six of these were devoted to streets; in the neighborhood, eighty acres have been sold for building sites, leaving about five hundred acres still in the hands of the company, of which not one-third can ever be improved. In fact the acres a ready sale are a considerable percentage of the most desirable property. As regards prices, they were fixed in 1872 and have not been changed. They were fixed, too, by parties who are not now connected with the management, and at that time were not considered too high. Nor are they now, taking everything into consideration, and the comparison of prices between Manitou and Oaxaca, is simply no comparison at all; one might as well compare prices at the Springs with prices of lots in the "Academy" to Denver. We have but "accidents" to Denver. We have but of a "classes" of citizens to be proud of, and to remember that whatever attractions our State presents to tourists in a great measure affect beneficially a kind of business. No man can come here from the East, drawn either by business or by pleasure, without having some benefit somewhere. When we compare the 3,000 acres of 1872 with the 3,000 acres of 1877; when we note the wonderful increase of taxable property in real estate, cattle, sheep, and personal property; when we compare its school privileges with those of other before the Colorado Springs Company located its town and lavished money by thousands upon thousands of dollars to improve Manitou, we see that the whole State has been benefited. Looking at the simple matter of arm produce, see what increased value has been given to a valley and to the town and the Springs are tributary. The supply has never been equal, and will probably never be, to the demand for it. The gardener, the ranchman, the farmer, and the citizen can produce, and a northern Colorado has been benefited by the opening up of such a place as Manitou. It is therefore to be regretted that such paragraphs should go abroad, founded as they evidently are on an untrue, and acquired by motives that may well be questioned.
